KEY STAT OF THE GAME:

- Seattle out-rebounded Dallas 40-27. The Storm's 40 rebounds set a new season-high (39 at Phoenix 5/20/16).

STORM HIGHLIGHTS

- Jewell Loyd led the Storm in scoring, notching her 11th game scoring 20+ points and her 10th time leading the team in scoring tonight after going 7-of-15 on 23 points.
- Breanna Stewart posted her ninth double-double of the season after scoring 17 points and grabbing 12 rebounds - 10 of them being defensive, which contributed to her league-leading 220 defensive rebounds in her rookie season. Tonight also marks her 11th showing of double-digit rebounds.
- The Seattle Storm is now 11-16 on the season, which puts it ahead of last season's final number of wins (10).
- Sue Bird connected on 3-of-7 from deep tonight, her 11th game this season where she's drilled 3 or more three-pointers in 2016. She is shooting 46.5% from beyond the arc this season, a career-high. She was the only Storm player to connect on a shot from distance tonight, the team was a collective 3-of-15 from range.
- Crystal Langhorne scored 12 points, her 14th game scoring double-digits in 2016.

WINGS HIGHLIGHTS

- Plenette Pierson scored a team-high 19 points on 7-of-17 shooting. This marks her 13th scoring double-digits for the Wings this season.
- Tonight's loss is the ninth-consecutive loss for Dallas, who falls to 9-19 on the season.

NEXT GAME: Seattle heads out for a four-game road trip, starting Friday in Chicago, the team's only game in the Windy City this season. Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m. CT.
